

Rural Workforce Enhancement Campaign for North Queensland

Northern Queensland Primary Health Network (NQPHN) in partnership with Health Workforce Queensland are working to build a sustainable primary care workforce through the recruitment and retention of general practitioners, nurses, and allied health professionals.

This targeted campaign focuses on the recruitment and orientation of incoming health professionals, to boost and grow the current workforce whilst enhancing capability and improving capacity in priority locations. The additional training and education provided further supports North Queensland primary health professionals to deliver meaningful, evidence-based health care.

Further information

To see what health opportunities are currently available across North Queensland, scan the QR code below, or visit www.healthworkforce.com.au/rural-workforce-enhancement-campaign

For more information, please contact Health Workforce Queensland at admin@healthworkforce.com.au or on (07) 3105 7800.

