Improving cervical cancer screening using AI-based voice technology

General Practices can use GoShare's proven technology to educate patient on the importance of participating in the Cervical Cancer Screening Program.

This activity is designed to support your practice to:

Easily identify women eligible for cervical screening.

Encourage participation in this vital preventive health activity.

Educate patients about self-collect options.

Using your practice software, eligible patients can be identified and contacted directly, reducing the administrative burden on staff and improving workflow efficiency.

The GoShare platform also sends a personalised SMS to identified patients, which includes your practice name and contact details.

The message contains:

A link to trusted information about cervical screening

Instructions on how to book a screening appointment with your practice or local provider.

The GoShare platform also sends Healthily GoShare Voice calls, an innovative tool powered by conversational Voice AI technology, designed to enhance patient education and engagement. It automates outbound phone calls to deliver personalised, supportive messages encouraging cervical screening.

This proactive approach helps increase screening rates, empowers patients with knowledge, and strengthens your practice's preventive health efforts.

Northern Queensland Primary Health Network is offering free access to GoShare technology, giving your practice a head start on Cervical Screening participation.
